(G)enealogy and (E)edomination Genea is a database-driven application for storing and manipulating the information of persons and their descendants. It contains all relevant data of the entire German-speaking regions, ranging from place and time of birth to the present day. You can create basic genealogical data in a few minutes and you are able to print and store your family tree at any time. Beside this, you can share and exchange your genealogical data with other users. Additionally, you can search by name and place of birth, all family members and descendents, and all source-data from the database. Genea is built using the R&G Database Gateway. Genea allows you to work with the data directly at a desktop, or import it into your desktop application (free registration is required). It can be run either on a stand-alone Windows system or on an internet-connected Windows system (data are transferred using the secure internet-protocol SSL). Who is Genea for? Genea is the most complex and professional program for creating personal genealogies, and it has a totally different focus than any other family tree generator. It allows you to input and save data about persons, their parents, their siblings, their children, and so on, and to print and export your family tree. This will let you create your own personal family-tree, save and exchange data with other families in the same region, find other people who are related to you and print a family-tree for every individual, and every family, in the entire German-speaking region. As this is all possible only because of the database, it is well suited for genealogists, personal, family and regional historians. Even people without special knowledge can save data about the region, people and families without special knowledge about genealogy can create a personal family-tree by inputting data about their family and all the families in the region, and the people without any special knowledge can search the entire database. What does Genea allow to do? Genea gives you the following options and possibilities: You can create new person-specific b7e8fdf5c8

* Create genealogies from existing data (hints, sources, relationships) * Create family-trees from existing data (hints, sources, relationships) * Print and export genealogies and family trees as image-files for easy-handling in any way (not only for family-history programs) * Create relationships to persons from data in the genealogy-application * Online-Status for relationships (you can define states for persons and the relationship to them) * Query for relationships * Export relationships to text-file, Excel-file, Outlook-format etc. * Export to Applets (Flash) * Notifications when persons are added * Privacy-Mode for the website * Latest version from: A browser-extension to allow connection and display of persons from Genea DB's. This is a replacement for the Netscape extension as far as possible. It's still in development, but the basic functionality is working. Closing If you would like a trial version, send me an e-mail with your e-mail-address and I'll send you the one I use. Please contact me if you have any comments or problems. Release Notes: Version 1.1: Relatively minor update with improved JavaScript and some bugfixes (Source-code at:) Bugfix: When browsing to a family with multiple branches this error was shown: "The person "Type 2" could not be found" Version 1.0: It's now quite self-sufficient. The DB-server must be started in the background and connected when the extension is created. The plugin will create an icon in your browser's bookmarks. Changelog: Added Changed It was actually possible to create person's from other genealogy applications. However, it wasn't possible to create relationships between them. Due to a bug (still not fixed) the browser-extension doesn't show persons (and relationships) that were created (after an update of the application), but not yet assigned to a family. It's now possible to create relationships with persons that are already in the DB. Login Form Web-design by HansBosse License This software

The ever-changing society, the multiple opportunities that a smart phone presents, and the growing secularization of our culture all contribute to that. The internet has become a major distraction, and many Christians treat the web like a substitute for going to Church. However, while going to Church can be a wonderful and inspiring experience, the internet has many benefits as well. This post will discuss how the internet can be used for good, and sometimes for the Kingdom of God. The internet is a major outlet for the spread of the Gospel of Jesus Christ We've discussed the importance of reaching people, and the best way to do so in our previous article. With the internet, it's easier than ever to spread the Gospel. One of the best ways to do so is to take advantage of the web's popularity. Online, people's attention span is shorter than in print media. That's why they are more prone to be intrigued and influenceable. This is an opportunity for us to reach people with the most important news in the history of the world, and the most important message ever presented to humanity. By watching a 30-minute video for a short time, people can be converted. To come to Church and do little else besides go to Church, on the other hand, will not make a difference to many people. The internet is a way to study the bible in deeper detail While reading the Bible is an important part of studying the Word of God, the internet offers an easier and more convenient way to do so. We can access more information than ever before, and that can help us become more familiar with the Word and deeply understand the meaning of the Bible. Also, with the internet we can study the Bible at any time, rather than at a specific time. With the web, it's possible to visit any kind of website, read any kind of article, watch any kind of video.

System Requirements:

NVIDIA SLI or AMD Crossfire Minimum 2 GB video memory An Intel Core i5-2500 or AMD equivalent CPU A DirectX 11 compatible GPU Windows Vista (or later) DirectX 11.1 compatible video card Possible FPS Drop: If you're using GeForce 8800 GTX graphics card, it will drop FPS to 40 FPS on high settings. If you're using GeForce 8800 GT graphics card, it will drop FPS to 30 FPS on high settings.
